

MORITZ 0,0

Moritz is Barcelona's first brewery, founded in 1856 by Louis Moritz right in the city center, between Eixample and Raval. The industrial area that has been home to Moritz company headquarters since 1856 is located right at the edge of the city's ancient Roman wall, at 41 Ronda de Sant Antoni.

Moritz belongs to the oldest brewing family in the country. The founder, Louis Moritz, originally from Alsace, was the first person in Spain to invest in industrial brewing, at what is now the Moritz Brewery on Ronda Sant Antoni.

The new Moritz 0.0 comes with a genuine beer taste and a good body. The beer has zero sugar, something you rarely find in other beers.
