

ELEPHANT STRENGTH GIN

Elephant Gin produces award-winning handcrafted premium gin products made with rare African botanicals. While the story started in South Africa, Elephant Gin is handmade in Germany with focus on highest quality production standards. All ingredients are hand-selected, bottles custom-made, labels hand-written and production efforts controlled by working in small batches. Focused on artisan production methods, all ingredients are carefully checked for any impurities - guaranteeing the optimal flavour profile. Without any artificial flavouring, Elephant Gin uses only locally sourced spring water to bring their products to their required alcoholic volumes.

Elephant Strength Gin is our take on the so-called "navy strength", whose origin comes from the Royal English Navy and putting a gin to the test by lighting it with gunpowder. If the gin had at least 57% ABV, then it surely survived the test and was proclaimed navy strength.

Elephant Strength is based on the award-winning Elephant London Dry Gin and with its 57% ABV, it's both stronger and richer than the original. The Strength uses twice the quantity of botanicals and a focus on the extraordinary African buchu, sweet orange peel and herbaceous mountain pine. It is a gentle giant! The gin is powerful (think elephant-powerful!), intense and full-bodied, with a fresh aroma and a higher viscosity than the original; superb in cocktails, it's equally perfect for recreating the African bush Sundowner experience and for bold adventures across urban plains.

In addition, Elephant Gin returns 15% of their profits to "Big Life Foundation" and "Space for Elephants", both of whom are working to preserve African wildlife so that future generations can also experience and enjoy these great animals.
